This diagram shows an exploded view of a mechanical assembly, likely a pump or motor component. The main assembly is shown in two views: a top view (left) and a side view (right). The top view shows a rectangular base (1) with a central shaft (2) and a large, rounded, textured component (3) mounted on it. The side view shows the same assembly from a different angle, highlighting the internal components and the shaft's connection to a larger, cylindrical component (4). Various numbered parts are shown in an exploded state, including: 1. Base plate; 2. Central shaft; 3. Large textured component; 4. Large cylindrical component; 5. Small cylindrical component; 6. This diagram shows an exploded view of a mechanical assembly. The main components are two rectangular blocks, labeled 1 and 2, which serve as the base. A central shaft assembly is shown in the middle, consisting of a shaft with various bearings, seals, and a central component labeled 10. To the left, a smaller component labeled 3 is shown. To the right, a larger component labeled 4 is shown. The assembly is supported by a base plate labeled 5. Various other parts are labeled with numbers 6 through 25, including springs, bolts, and seals. A small inset diagram at the bottom right shows a detail of a component labeled 24.

Technical drawing of a vacuum cleaner assembly, showing two views: a side view (left) and a top view (right). The side view shows the motor unit (1) connected to a flexible hose (16) via a coupling (17). The top view shows the motor unit (2) with a dust container (3) and a filter (4). Various components are labeled with numbers 1 through 18.
